This guide lists and describes the manuscript materials held by the Pforzheimer Collection that were created by Mary Wollstonecraft, including including original holograph writings and letters.

Language of the Material: Materials in English

Processing note: Compiled by Charles Cuykendall Carter and Susannah Bingham Buck.

Separated Materials:

In addition to manuscripts by Mary Wollstonecraft, the Pforzheimer Collection holds hundreds of manuscripts by her husband, William Godwin; her daughter, Mary Shelley; and many friends and colleagues. Also held are early editions of her published works, including a first edition copy of A Vindication of the Rights of Woman with the ownership signature of Mary Hays. Wollstonecraft-related visual materials held by the Collection include an oil portrait by John Keenan, commissioned by Aaron Burr, copied after John Opie's original, as well as several early engraved portraits.

Additional Mary Wollstonecraft manuscript material is held by the Library's Berg Collection.

Custodial History

The first Mary Wollstonecraft manuscripts added to the Collection were letters acquired by the first Carl Pforzheimer in the 1920s: the letter to Joseph Johnson regarding money owed her; the letter to Mary Hays accompanying a lent book; and the letter to Maria Reveley, inviting her to dinner. Further acquisitions led to an accumulation of nine items in Wollstonecraft's hand by the time of Pforzheimer's death in 1957. In the following years, under the auspices of the Pforzheimer Library, the Collection acquired over 35 more Mary Wollstonecraft manuscripts, including a number of letters to Mary Hays, fellow writer and friend. Since the Collection's move to The New York Public Library in 1986, five Mary Wollstonecraft manuscripts have been accessioned.

Scope and Content Note

The Mary Wollstonecraft manuscript material in the Pforzheimer Collection consists of writings and correspondence. The writings include a holograph fragment of her essay, "On Poetry", and a holograph review of Karl Gottlieb Cramer's gothic novel, Albert de Nordenschild. Also held is a contemporary manuscript fragment of A Vindication of the Rights of Woman which could be in Wollstonecraft's hand, convincingly so to some eyes. The bulk of the correspondence is dated between 1787 and 1797. Correspondents include: Catharine Macaulay, the historian; Mary Hays, the novelist; Joseph Johnson, the bookseller; and over a half dozen others. The fifteen letters to Wollstonecraft's friend Jane Arden are transcripts in an early 19th century copybook, possibly in Arden's hand.

Items treated in Shelley and his Circle or in Janet Todd's Collected Letters of Mary Wollstonecraft are noted with reference.
