Scope and Content Note

The Harkness Collection consists of autograph letters, documents, and signatures, chiefly of eighteenth through twentieth century British and American literary and historical figures. European figures and artistic and musical figures are also represented in the collection, some by items dating back to the fifteenth century. The items are usually mounted in volumes and accompanied by typed transcripts, portrait photographs and illustrations, and related letters, clippings, and other material. Charles Dickens; Benjamin Franklin; Marie-Louise, Empress of France; Mary Stuart; Edgar Allen Poe; John Ruskin; William Makepeace Thackeray; Henry David Thoreau; George Washington; and John Greenleaf Whittier are among the figures represented. Some volumes, as noted, have separate indexes.

Included are documents concerning The Library Company, and letters to Mr. Galloway, J. Read, M. l'Abbe de la Roche, William Strahan, and Thomas Walpole.

Autograph Document Signed "B. Franklin", and eight others. Philadelphia

November 14, 1732

The original manuscript of the memorandum of Agreement between the Directors of the Library Company of Philadelphia - the first subscription Library in the world - and its first Librarian, Louie Timothee. The earliest known manuscript of Franklin and of the greatest importance.

Autograph list of the Directors of the Library Company of Philadelphia, in Franklin's hand

Written about 1752 shortly after the founding of the first of Franklin's public institutions.

Autograph document with Franklin's signature 1742

A list of officers of the Library Company for the ensuing year, with the minutes of the election.

Autograph Letter Signed [to J. Read] December 5, 1748

A superb and characteristic letter, to a debtor urging upon him the necessity of paying his debts.

Autograph Letter Signed. To William Strahan June 28, 1751

A valuable letter relating to business matters and settling affairs involved by his having turned over his printing house in 1748 to his foreman, Daniel Hall. Also deals with Franklin's printing venture in Antigua.

Autograph Letter Signed. Philadelphia, to William Strahan June 4, 1753

Signed twice. Relating to the settlement of his nephew in Antigua as a printer and other matters.

Autograph Letter Signed. Philadelphia, to William Strahan April 28, 1754

A very interesting business letter, ordering various books, etc.

Autograph Letter Signed. Philadelphia, to William Strahan November 27, 1755

A superb letter, proposing an agency for the sale of "The Gentleman's Magazine," in America. The letter is alive with prudent advice upon financial matters, and others.

Autograph Letter Signed. London, to Mr. Galloway August 22, 1772

A splendid letter upon historical matters, dealing in detail with his negotiations as a representative of the Colonies in London. He mentioned the leaders among the Whigs with respect and the Tory leaders with bitter scorn.

Autograph Letter Signed. Craven Street, To Hon. Thomas Walpole January 12, 1774

Franklin's letter to Walpole, returned to the writer at his request, and which, Franklin says, "I now attach with a wafer to this paper." On July 14, 1778, at Passy, he added on the, third page, a statement of the circumstances of the letter's return. Both are signed "B. Franklin." Labeled "Paper that may be of Consequence to my Posterity".

Autograph Letter Signed. Passy to William Strahan March 5, 1785

Requesting Strahan's opinion on the value of a copyright and mentioning that "I hope to get home this ensuing Summer."

Autograph Letter Signed. Philadelphia to M. l'Abbé de la Roche April 22, 1787

A delightful, intimate letter in which he writes warmly of his friends at Auteuil, the delicacy of the Virginia Cardinal Birds and the impossibility of sending a shipment of them alive to some French bird lover, and many other matters of political and personal interest.
